SHE SAVED HER BABY

Mrs. Stone Was Thrown From the Buggy.

BUT CLASPED HER LITTLE ONE

Close to Her Breast Until All Danger Was Over, and Both Escaped Unhurt, While the Husband and Father Was Cut and Bruised—An Incident of the Diamond.

A. G. Stone and family had a narrow escape from death or serious injury while driving in the Diamond last night, and is today a sore and bruised man, while his wife is thankful because she and her babe were not killed.

At 9:30 o'clock A. G. Stone, a farmer living on the farm of John Fowler, above the East End, drove through the Diamond in a light buggy drawn by a four-year-old pony. As they turned into Market street some one ran across the roadway in front of the horse, and the animal scared. Before the driver could obtain a tighter grip on the lines the pony gave a great lunge forward and dashed down the street. At Fifth street Stone gave the lines a pull which sent the horse to the right, but threw him forward on the wheel. He could not extricate himself from this perilous position, and as the animal bounded down the street the wheel was cutting the unfortunate farmer. When in front of the residence of Captain Myers the maddened horse ran on the pavement, and the buggy, being unable to get over the curb, came to a sudden standstill. The occupants were thrown out in an instant, and when the crowd gathered there was confusion. The horse began kicking as soon as it stopped, and the driver was struck on the head. By-standers quickly helped the injured people to their feet, and it was found that Mrs. Stone had her child clasped close to her breast. The woman was bruised, and otherwise injured, but the babe escaped without a scratch. Stone had a cut on his forehead, and his knee was cut open, while numerous bruises covered his body. The buggy was not injured to any great extent and the horse was uninjured. The injured ones were taken to a drug store and their cuts dressed and afterward they were driven home in a carriage.

THE ENTRIES.

Tomorrow.

The handsome gold medal which will be given the winner of the road race tomorrow afternoon arrived this morning, and is on exhibition at Orr's on Sixth street. It is a beauty, the best that $25 could buy, and will be a trophy worth having. All other prizes have been apportioned and make a list that will please every rider. The list of entries is as follows: Two, Kerr; three, McMillen; four, Anderson; five, Holzman; six, Hall; seven, Rex; eight, York; nine, Jewell; ten, Bott; twelve, Harris.

On the back of each rider will be his number in club colors, a blue figure on an orange ground. The tape will be stretched on Sixth street at the Diamond, and the first men are expected in about 6 o'clock.

The route to be covered starts at Fourth street in Steubenville, river road to Toronto, through the narrows to Wellsville, following the street car line from time of entering Wellsville until tape is crossed. The numbers will be given out on the scratch.

Residents of Sixth street are earnestly requested by the club to refrain from sprinkling the streets until after the riders have passed. A slippery pavement may mean a broken leg.

W. L. SMITH WON.

He Beat Out the Eclipse Ball Club in Court.

LISBON, June 28.—The case of W. L. Smith against George Y. Travis and the old Eclipse ball club was won by the plaintiff today. Judgment was taken by default for $465.00 against Travis, John M. Davidson, George and Will Carey, the Shaw boys and John Olnier.

The Potters Building and Loan got judgment today against Lily M. Arbuckle for $4,381.38, the amount of a promissory note, and a mortgage on lots in Bradshaw addition to Liverpool was ordered foreclosed.

The case of the First National bank of Allegheny against John Rinehart was heard on a motion to guarantee costs, and sustained.

In probate court Fred C. Kercher, administrator, and Miller Harsha, were given until August to file amended petitions in cases against the street railway company.

NO BIDS.

Contractors Have Not Yet Asked For Work.

Clerk Hanley will on Monday afternoon open all bids for the paving of Lincoln avenue, and for the paving and grading of Elm street. The culvert on Eighth street is also included in the work. As yet no bids have come to the clerk, and he is waiting patiently for contractors to get them in. The improvement of these streets has long been needed.

COMING BACK.

Frank Croxall Thinks There Is No Place
Like Liverpool.

The ever genial Frank H. Croxall, who moved to Denver about two years ago, has turned his face eastward, and with his family and household belongings, is expected here tomorrow.

Denver is a great city but Frank thinks there is no place like East Liverpool and has long been contemplating returning. He will locate in business in this city.

entirely successful. Micky Lynch did splendid work in the box, striking out men as if it was no trouble whatever to him, while Twaddle caught acceptably. Frank Salisbury put up a stiff game and did an acrobatic feat in the last inning that was loudly applauded. The score was:

Reds.....7 0 1 0 1 0 3 5 *—17
Gyms.....2 0 0 0 1 0 1 2 1—7

The soldier ball players will cross bats with the East End team on the grounds of the latter next Monday afternoon.

The East End boys played a team chosen from the Wellsville picnicers at West End park yesterday afternoon, and the score was: East End, 11; Wellsville, 6. The East End nine claim they got the cold shoulder after entertaining the crowd and were unceremoniously compelled to leave the grounds.

THE FARMERS BEATEN.

The Jury Said That Childs Owned the Disputed Boiler.

When John Childs' replevin case against F. J. and Helena Farmer was tried yesterday before Squire Rose and a jury of six men, it was evident that the Smith's Ferry man had a splendid case and that the Farmers would lose. A small crowd listened intently to the evidence until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Farmer testified that he purchased goods from Thomas Milligan and Thomas Plunkett, but had not told them to charge it to anyone. This was disputed instantly by the other side, who ordered the men subpoenaed; but the point was admitted by Farmer's attorneys, and the case went to the jury. At 5 o'clock they came in, and informed the court that Childs could have his boiler. Then the crowd smiled, and went home.

Willis Gaston's execution, which was given to Chief Gill yesterday, was to gain possession of a horse which Gaston sold to Farmer some time ago, and on which Farmer claims a sum of money, something over $50, was paid. Farmer defeated Gaston in Calcutta, but the decision was reversed in common pleas court.

AT SPRING GROVE.

They Will Organize a Sunday School Next Sunday.

The good people at Spring Grove are having a very good time these evenings, and until a late hour the sound of joyful singing comes from some part of the ground. Visitors were numerous last night.

The pastors of the Methodist Episcopal churches of this city and Wellsville will meet with those who are interested, at the tabernacle, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of organizing at Sunday school. It is hoped that there will be a large turn out.

The base ball game last evening was a scorcher, and a large proportion of the cottagers turned out to see the fun. It was a tie score, the kindly darkness, it is said by each side, intervening to prevent an awful slaughter.

The players indignantly deny the story published in the Wellsville Union that they lost the game the other day to the Hawleys. They say they won it as fair as they ever won a game, and they want credit.

LIEUTENANT FINLEY NOW.

The Soldier Boys Have Now a Full List of Officers.

At the meeting of Company E last evening Robert Finley, the bugler, was elected first lieutenant by a unanimous vote of the members. By order of Captain Supplee, Sergeant Terrence was promoted to the position of first sergeant, and other promotions will follow in the near future. The captain has decided that no man shall remain on the non-commissioned staff who does not attend to his duty fully. The Wellsville contingent will be accepted, and two full sets of fours will be added from that place. Lieutenant Finley is expected to make a good officer, and Sergeant Terrence is an old guardsman, with plenty of experience to make him fill the place with honor.

The soldiers will drill on Third street next Wednesday evening, as Captain Supplee has no desire to take their time on the Fourth.

NO MORE FIRE RUNS.

The Patrol Will Stay Quiet When the Alarm Sounds.

One benefit arising from the change of the patrol station is the addition of a man to the day force of the fire department. In future Patrolman McMillen will not respond to alarms with the wago, but will help the department get out, and then ride to the fire on one of the machines. This has long been needed, and the firemen are happy. The horses had to be trained a little before becoming accustomed to their quarters.

STOPPED THE SHOOTING

Chief Gill Will Have no More of It.

HE WILL ENFORCE EVERY LAW

Small Boys Will Not be Allowed to Make Night Hideous, and Frighten Horses.
The Chief is Out With a Club and Very Much in Earnest.

The small boy and the large boy, the lean boy and the fat boy, must cease the practice of shooting fire works, or the police will gather him into jail in large numbers, for the edict hath gone forth.

Since the season begun every small boy with enough money to buy fire works has been having a glorious time. He has been making night hideous and transforming peaceful days into noisy warfare. For several weeks he has had it all to himself. No kind providence or angry policeman has intervened to stop the sport, and he has revelled in his noisy demonstration. On week day and Sunday he has been enjoying the freedom that has allowed him to frighten horses and endanger property, but a watchful municipal government has decided to cut the small boy down in the midst of his fiery glory and declare him a common nuisance.

"We have determined to stop this useless noise and danger," said Chief Gill this morning, "and the police are watching for the first victims. If he is as big as a house or as small as a mouse he will have to come, because the law must be obeyed. There is a law against celebrating the Fourth until the Fourth comes, and we can't afford to have horses running away and buildings burning down in order to let a few boys have fun. There has been too much of it already."

The chief is also opposed to small boys being able to buy fireworks at the different stores, and thinks there should be a law against it. The only statute on the books is against the selling of toy pistols, a state law, but whether it can be applied to fireworks is a matter yet to be decided by the courts. The authorities are not bothering a great deal of that phase of the matter, although they look upon it as the root of the evil, but they are enforcing the law as they have it, and woe betide the youngster who happens to be caught.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.

A Fire Caused by Small Boys Last Night.

The first fire caused by shooting crackers occurred at the Union Planing mill last night, and had it not been discovered in time the plant would now be in ashes.

A party of boys were firing crackers in the alley near the mill at 9:30 o'clock when they were seen by John Forbes, a driver. At the same moment he noticed a blaze on the roof, and hastening to the station nearby gave the alarm. The company made a quick run and soon extinguished the blaze with a Babcock. The time consumed in getting out was nothing short of wonderful. The damage was slight, amounting to no more than a few dollars.

BUYING WARE.

Two Wisconsin Men Look About the Potteries and Purchase.

Two gentlemen from Wisconsin whose names were not learned, but who presented an appearance far from important or desirous of creating an impression that they were wealthy, arrived in Wellsville yesterday afternoon and came to this city on a street car. They stated to Mr. Bursner that they intended buying ware and selling it retail in the wilds of Wisconsin, and inquiry showed that they expected to purchase at least a bulk car load, probably $12,000. They made a tour of the potteries yesterday afternoon, but it was not learned which plant was fortunate enough to get their orders.

DOLL WAS DESIROUS

Of Removing a Boarder From Off the Face of the Earth.

Residents of Wucherer addition were startled last night by the violent attempts of Ferdinand Doll to puncture the atmosphere with his feet and hands and his oft repeated threats to do bodily injury to a Frenchman who was boarding at the Doll residence.

The boarder was not pleasing to Doll's vision and he wanted him to skip. The Frenchman said nay and trouble ensued. Doll was arrested by Officer Earle and paid $6.00 at city hall. His was the only case on the mayor's docket today and the jail is empty.

CORBETT SHOULD WIN.

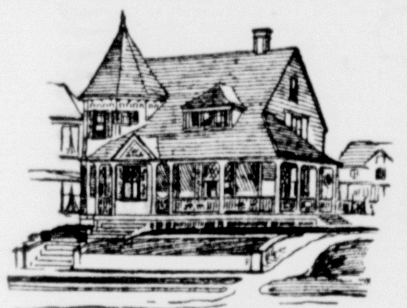

Sullivan's View of the Big Battle With Fitzsimmons.

NO "CINCH" FOR THE CHAMPION.

The Big Fellow Says the Australian Pugilist Is the Harder Hitter, but Corbett May Win in Twenty or Twenty-five Rounds—Corbett Will Take His Time.

It is always a pretty sure sign that two pugilists mean business when they get a known doctor to sound them and take their physical measurements. I was the first to take that step, and the rest of the boys followed my example. Dr. Shradly examined me before my fight with Corbett, and Dr. Gibbs did the same for the present champion. Later on Corbett and Mitchell went through the performance, and only a few days ago Bob Fitzsimmons, who is matched to fight Jim Corbett for the world's championship, was looked over preparatory to entering a course of training. Corbett will do the trick again just before he settles down to hard work for the last fight of his life. He will train at a handsome cottage at Loch Arbour, N. J., near the spot where he trained for his battle with me.

Corbett and I met at New Orleans, Corbett and Mitchell at Jacksonville, and it is a golden eagle to a red cherry that Corbett

CORBETT'S COTTAGE AT LOCH ARBOUR, and Fitzsimmons will meet at Dallas, Tex., in October next. The men could not get out of a battle if they wanted to, and to give each his due I honestly believe that neither wishes to dodge a meeting. There is too much feeling between these chaps to admit of any such argument. They hate each other just as cordially as the boys who sport the orange and the green over in old Ireland. That will give zest to the meeting. There will be no love taps, but red-hot jabs and peppery upper cuts.

Aside from the antipathy each bears the other there are other reasons which conduce to their coming together. These are the love of glory and the gold which follows in its wake and the force of public opinion. All athletes, be they fighters, wrestlers, cricketers, pedestrians or what not, fear public opinion as much as they love gold. Once let the public get on to the fact that a champion of any kind is afraid to meet an opponent in his class, and his days as an athlete are numbered. He could not draw brass pennies, not to talk of silver dollars, to the box office of any show that he might give. Indeed, he would be lucky if he did not get bouquets of ancient eggs thrown at him from the gallery. Therefore it is safe to bet a national bank against a Coney Island barn that the boys will face each other in the ropes arena; if not in Texas, then in Mexico or some other spot; if not in public, then in private.

What kind of a battle will it be, and what are the chances of the men? I have been asked these questions at least 100 times and will answer here to the best of my ability. Corbett should win, as he has height and weight in his favor, besides a trifle the best of it in the way of shiftiness. In skill, speed, reach, courage and strength they are pretty near even, although Fitzsimmons is by far the harder hitter. Corbett, however, has no straight clinch. This is an era of surprises, and Fitz may land one of his knockout blows.

If Corbett should go at lanky Bob as he did at Mitchell, he would get whipped to a dead moral certainty. He can never mix it with Fitz at infighting and exchange blow for blow, simply because the Australian's punches are about twice as dangerous as the Californian's. Corbett's forte is outfighting, and, mark my words, you will see that he plays that game when he and Fitz meet at Dallas. He will try simply to jab Bob out, which, if he can keep away from the Australian, he may do in 20 or 25 rounds.

Fitz, on the other hand, I am satisfied, will go at Corbett from the very moment time is called. He will try to mix it with Corbett in every possible way and land a knockout blow. It may puzzle the champion to keep away from him, as Fitz is a mighty spry fellow, and can get around a ring like a race horse. I predict that Corbett when cornered, as he is bound to be by Fitz some time, will resort to clinches to save himself from punishment. He is a far better wrestler than Fitz, and as he will be about 20 pounds heavier and can use his strength to greater advantage he may even wear Fitz out at infighting. Wrestling is terribly exhausting, especially so to the lighter, weaker and less skillful man. Should Fitz get in one or two hard blows, however, before the clinch Corbett may become so weak that his wrestling skill will not avail him much.

The fight will be one of the best, I think, that have occurred between big men in this country for a long time, as both fellows are so clever, speedy and strategic. Corbett will try to make it wholly a scientific battle and win by a long encounter. Fitzsimmons will endeavor to use force with science and win or be whipped in short order.

He is as sensible in his plan as Corbett is in his. One can win out best by waiting, the other by rushing.

Leaving the element of chance out of it, Corbett, for the reasons I have already given, should win, although the other man has a cracking good chance to capture first money. He is big and strong just where he needs these qualities—in the shoulders, arms and muscles of the back. His shoulders are indeed broader than the champion's, his back muscles rounder and bigger and his chest expansion greater. His legs are not near as shapely or as large as Jim's, but Bob says they are strong enough and tough enough to hold him up all day.

Anyhow, whichever way the battle goes, it will be worth going a long way to see, and all I can say to the boys to cheer them on and help the grand old sport along is the motto which always adorned my colors in my fighting days, "May the best man win."

John L. Sullivan

CONDENSED CYCLING CHAT.

The L. A. W. is now practically controlling professional as well as amateur racing. It is reported that W. W. Windle will make his reappearance on the racing path again this fall.

Austin Corbin, the railway magnate, has spent $30,000 on the new Manhattan Beach cycle track near New York.

C. W. Dancy of Chicago, who won the time prize in the recent Milwaukee road race, is called "The King of Ireland" by his admirers.

The Wheel observes that it is easier for a rodlike to climb a greased pole than for a scratch man to win a Decoration day road race in Chicago.

Cabanne, the St. Louis racer, is showing rare speed. There are few swifter men on the path. Cabanne belongs to an aristocratic St. Louis French family.

Fred Nessel, winner of the Chicago road race time prize on the run over, rode the last three miles on a flat tire, but finished the 21 miles in the very fast time of 49 minutes 40 seconds. Nessel won the Waukesha road race in 1892.

Dirnberger's trainer has this to say: "Mike will hold the flying mile record at the end of the year, and any one who wants to have a trial at it will have to ride faster than 1 minute 35 seconds on a three lap track, for I am convinced that our quad team can go as fast as that."

Mrs. Potter and the Playwright.

Mrs. Potter, since her planet has peeped at last over the horizon of success, is pestered day and night by playwrights, good and bad, generally the latter.

One blistering afternoon during the recent hot spell she came down the steps of the dressmaker's and was suddenly clutched by the arm.

"Mrs. Potter, I've a play for you—a part that will suit you down to the ground. I am sure that you'll like it."

The speaker was a lady in middle life, but in whose eye dwelt the fires of incipient stage insanity.

Mrs. Potter said that she had secured a play for next season, and that—

"But, madam, not like this one," was the fierce reply. "You will have a great part. In the first act you are an unknown orphan without a past—your hair!"

Then Mrs. Potter pushed by her, murmuring her thanks.

"In the second act you discover that you are illegitimate, that your father and mother died before you were born!"

Mrs. Potter jumped hastily into her coupe, and as she moved off a face full of dramatic passion peered into the vehicle and screamed:

"And in the last act you marry your own father by mistake!"

Then the carriage escaped.

What Became of Miss Potter's $50.

Not long ago Jennie O'Neill Potter met an actor who used to be her associate in a dramatic company. The actor, unlike Canning's knife grinder, had a story to tell. He was wrecked on the reef of impoverty. He had a starving wife and three children, whom he expected to die at any moment. The condition of Orlando, who was a bachelor, when he approached the duke's hospitable board in Arden Forest, was prosperity itself compared to this. Miss Potter, being a sympathetic soul and having just received her salary, hastily went and thrust $50 into the hand of her unfortunate friend. That evening she went with a party to Delmonico's for supper, and to her astonishment she discovered at a nearby table the starving actor drinking champagne with a soubrette.

"And," says Miss Potter bitterly, "I wouldn't have cared so much for the $50, but the impertinence of him! That soubrette and I had a terrible row once, and we haven't been speaking since!"

Ed Geers, the Silent Man.

Ed Geers, who drives Robert J. is a unique character, says Outing for June. He is known as the silent man from Tennessee. He is a man who bears an enviable record for honesty, ability and abstemiousness, and his only vice is an exceedingly mild one, that of chewing gum. Strange to say, although he has a magnificent stable at his disposal, his favorite amusement, when not attending to his horses, is to ride on a bicycle—in fact, he uses this mode of locomotion to keep down his weight, and a favorite joke on him is that, when he is sweeping along a country road in the neighborhood of Buffalo and finds himself overtaken by one of the crack riders of that city, he softly clicks to himself as if he were addressing one of his favorite steeds and then unconsciously puts on an extra spur and probably beats the crack who has just passed him. Geers receives a salary of $5,000 a year from the Village farm for driving, and he is richly worthy of it.

Champion Zimmerman's Black Shadow.

John Backus, Zimmerman's colored "mascot," is at present in Philadelphia. He is known as the black shadow of Europe and this country, "Zim" all over Europe and this country, and if the "Skeeter" goes to Europe he will be a black shadow says he'll go too. As soon as it is settled that Zimmerman is to visit the antipodes Backus will make a break for place to place, and if possible will make it a point to be on the same vessel. He claims that no small portion of the champion's success is due to him.

The Year of the Bicycle.

This year will go into history as bicycle year. The growth of the wheel's popularity has been so amazing that it seems as if all the world had suddenly discovered that the wheel is a good thing and is trying to get on as soon as possible. The roads are alive with cyclists. The factories cannot meet the demand.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A number of East End young people are arranging for a trip to Cannell-ton on July 4.

D. W. Johnson shipped his household goods to Point Bridge, Pa., yesterday and the family will make their home there.

The Elks are talking picnic, but so far no definite arrangements have been made. They will probably have a big picnic in July.

The Women's Relief corps will give an old Fourth of July picnic at Bowers' grove on Thursday next and a big attendance from this city is expected.

At practice on the gun club grounds today, Tony Bertele had the good record of 7 in 10, 8 in 10 and 14 out of 15. He was shooting at blue rocks, and did his best.

The dealers in fireworks at Salem have agreed not to sell any explosives before the afternoon of the Fourth. What a kindness it would be if local merchants did the same thing.

The United Brethren will hold services in Ferguson's hall on next Tuesday evening, July 2. Quarterly meeting services will be held, under charge of J. F. Shepherd, presiding elder.

The clock for the school building is reposing gently in a secure spot, waiting for the agent of the Thomas company to place it in the tower. The interior of the structure is being beautified, and presents a good appearance.

The Glorious is destined to pass this year without any celebration beyond what little events can be produced by private parties. Beaver Falls and Canton, because of the bicycle races, will get a number of Liverpool visitors.

The engineers are at work today on the proposed electric line survey, and are making very good time. There is much speculation on the route into the city, and property owners are wondering who will be most benefited by the road selected.

A young lady from Columbus was in the city today conferring with Professor Sanor as to her chances for securing a position as teacher in the schools here. She returned to the capital this morning without receiving much encouragement.

"Why don't the board of health meet?" asked a citizen of a reporter, and the citizen could only answer that he did not know. "Perhaps they think the city is clean enough to answer all purposes," he continued, as he smiled an unexplainable smile.

A little episode in which a potter, who has many friends in the city, and the wife of a well known resident figured prominently, is said to have interested some people yesterday morning. A kettle of hot water was waiting for the wicked one had he not decided it was best to take it all back.

Many Wellsville people who attended the picnic at Rock Spring yesterday discussed the river front as they steamed by the city, and the opinion was general that water provided by Liverpool would be much better than anything they can ever hope to draw from the river at Wells-ville.

The opening of National park by C. A. Hutchison last night was a complete success, the ferry boat carrying a large crowd from this city to the pleasant grove across the river, and the young people enjoyed dancing until midnight. All were well pleased with the new park and were invited to return Saturday.

Mr. McClave, the actuary, says that work on the new list is almost completed, and it will be ready for the printer about the first of the month. The potteries have not yet commenced to feel in a great wave the effect of the reduction, but many salesmen are in the city and will not go out until after the Fourth. The length of the loaf depends entirely upon the condition of the market.

A passenger on the afternoon west bound train yesterday heard a stick fly up and strike the car in which he was seated and the force of the blow was such that he thought a truck had broken. This was just above Smith's Ferry and the train was going at good speed but the man promptly pulled the bell cord and the train stopped. The situation was embarrassing for the passenger when the crew explained it all, but he said he didn't want to be mixed up in a wreck.

An agent for a picture firm in one of the larger cities is at present engaged in transacting business here in a most despicable manner. He is a bona fide agent and the firm with which he is engaged does the work as promised. They expect him to take orders and small pictures to be enlarged, but he is not allowed to receive any money until the crayon and original are returned. The oily tongued individual tells his victims that it is not absolutely necessary to make a cash deposit, but if they could accommodate him with $2 or $3 it would expedite delivery. If anybody is foolish enough to pay him, and some have been, he tears up the picture, pockets the money and the firm never hears about it.

WELLSVILLE.

NO NEW WATER BONDS

The People Voted Against Them Yesterday.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE

For the Water Works Are in Poor Condition—A Story That Repairs Are Not Needed—A Condition Which Should Be Remedied at Once.

Some people are sad in Wellsville today, and all because the election for bonds to improve the water works yesterday resulted in defeat for friends of the project.

The vote was not heavy, in fact was so light that it showed what little interest has been manifested in the idea. In all the polling places there was a visible lack of interest in spite of numerous efforts to bring the matter to a focus. Those who wanted the bonds, and those who opposed them were anxious to have an expression, but it came not from the majority. The count showed that 75 more people were opposed to it than wanted it. The crowd heard the count patiently, and then went, some jubilant and some sad. But the votes were there, and that settled it. There will be no bonds until some other effort is made by the authorities to have the people move again.

A reporter interviewed a large number of people today, and found there is great dissatisfaction because of the result. Those who want the system improved, but do not believe the money would be wisely spent if used in fixing the old pumps, think they have won a signal victory and now want a new plan by which they can have a good system. There are many people who look upon the water works at present as useless, and all the money that could be expended would be useless unless there is a general cleaning out. A story is afloat that parties have offered for $1,000 to put the pumps in condition to last five years and give a bond of $2,500 to perform the work, but it is only a story, and these people are not marching to the front. The story told by the trustees is that they must have money, as the whole plant is in danger of becoming useless at any moment. The town is certainly in danger, and should there be a big fire no one can tell how it would end. The cost of improving the water works is nothing compared to the cost of a conflagration. A rise in insurance rates is also expected as the companies demand protection of the best kind in towns like Wellsville.

Personal.

Doctor McConnell and family have returned from a visit to Cleveland.

Mr. Mulcahey, a well known Cleveland and Pittsburgh conductor, is ill.

Miss Emma Reiber is the guest of friends in McKeesport.

A. Brerly, of Pittsburg, was in town today calling on his friends and looking after business.

Al McGowan, of Steubenville, was here today on business.

Miss Edna Smith, of Front street, will leave in a few days for a summer resort in the Alleghenies.

T. A. Lloyd and family will take up their residence at Gring Grove next week.

A Day of Pleasure.

One of the most enjoyable picnics ever conducted in Wellsville was the outing of the United Presbyterian Sunday school yesterday. The large crowd enjoyed every hour of the time, and amused themselves with all sorts of sports. The most enjoyable event of the day was the base ball game in which a number of society young women played like heroes, catching and batting the ball as much as half a dozen times.

The Episcopal Sunday school picnicked at a Columbia park yesterday and had a good time.

Another Traveler.

Mavor Sinclair disposed of another traveler today, he having been caught on the cars without a ticket. He will go the way of the others.

George Newton was arrested last night for being disorderly and using abusive language. He paid a dollar and costs.

Buried This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Miss Jennie Anderson took place from the late residence on Front street this afternoon with interment in Spring Hill cemetery. A large party of friends were in attendance.

The case of the J. B. McNabb ice company versus John S. Dixon was set for hearing in Squire Rose's court today, but adjourned until July 6 at 1 o'clock.

BIT A BOY.

A Dog That Was Shot at Three Times and Lived to Smile.

A dog belonging to Dory Ashbaugh bit a boy near the Knowles pottery this morning.

So far as was learned the lad was not seriously injured. The dog was taken to city hall and after Officer Jennings had fired four shots at it the canine passed away.

May Begin Next Week.

Carpenters are completing the work of putting the floors in the tower for the new town clock in Central school building, and it is thought that the work of putting the big time piece in place will be commenced next week.

No Special Meeting.

The board of health will hold no special meeting, although the last regular session failed to materialize. The regular monthly meeting will take place on Friday evening next.

Caused a Smile.

The loafers about city hall were discussing the deep rooted prejudice of Wellsville for this city today and the prospects of the water works providing our sister city down the river with water. After each had had his say Clerk Hanley remarked: "Well they can't depend on their beer supply all summer. They'll have to build a water works or buy from us," and the crowd laughed.

There Was No Fight.

The report was going about that a good sized fight had taken place on a west bound street car last night and that there was more than one broken head. This proved merely the imagination of some unknown individual, as the only trouble was an altercation between motorman and passenger at the Walker switch. No blows were struck.

Indoor Bicycle Riding.

Nowadays every one wants to ride a bicycle, but many do not attempt it because they dread the ordeal of learning. In the first place they dislike the idea of abrasions and bruises, and in the second they can hardly bring themselves to the sacrifice of dignity which the floundering of the beginner usually entail. They need no longer hesitate. The bicycle can now be learned indoors, safe from prying eyes and without fear of falls. A new appliance designed for this purpose consists of a small flywheel covered with rubber and two side wheels fitted with a simple arrangement by means of which it can be adjusted to any kind of cycle in two minutes. Its great advantage is that the rider experiences the same momentum as in a spin on a hard road, while the machine either remains stationary or moves so slowly that in traversing 15 feet the same amount of exercise is obtained as in a mile of ordinary traveling.

Practice can thus be carried on in a hall or room, and riders can gauge the rate of speed their exertions would have given them on the highway. For beginners, children and invalids needing physical exercise this invention is specially adapted, as it stands perfectly steady and enables the difficulties of mounting and dismounting to be thoroughly overcome without danger of falls or bruises. The appliance is collapsible, weighs 15 pounds and can be easily carried in the hand.—Exchange.

Overwork, worry and nervous excitement are ruining the health of thousands. Kola gum stimulates digestion and makes steady nerves.

Just try this bike, you'll open your eyes And prove the truth we advertise: You'll surely say, with emphasis, There is no other bike like this—
